get jury call

THE upper age limit for jury service is to rise from 70 to 75.

Justice Minister Damian Green said the change was because of increases in life expectancy.

He added: "It is vital that the criminal justice system moves with the times."

Saga said: "Many older people remain astute, savvy and mentally agile well into later life."

INFECTION Baby killer bug booms

THE number of babies who get Group B streptococcal disease has risen by 50%.

About 300 children caught it in 2010 compared to 200 in 2005, Public Health England revealed.

The bug kills up to 10% of tots it strikes and survivors can get meningitis.

Specialist Dr Nicholas Embleton said screening of mums-to-be could be effective in reducing cases.
