Jane wins Campaigning Mum Award

Jane Plumb, 55, of Haywards Heath was presented with her Campaigning Mum Award in a star-studded ceremony on March

Jane's story was chosen from amongst thousands of nominations sent in from all over the UK.

Jane, who since the death of her son has campaigned tirelessly to raise awareness and improve medical practice around Group B Strep infection in the UK. In 1996, Jane founded a charity called Group B Strep Support (GBSS), just four months after her son, Theo, died from the infection. Testing for Group B Strep isn't available as part of routine ante-natal care in the UK. Group B Strep affects more children in the UK than Spina Bifida and yet few pregnant women have even heard of it.
